Dear Yank,

Reflecting on our relationship there are perhaps certain occurrences that I would like to revisit. You have always been a big supporter and someone that I look to in times of need.

I have thoughts of the first 500,000 meals that you donated to Liberia on a request that I made of you when we were together in Japan. This was just the beginning. Since then I have relied on you to deliver millions of meals around the world, and you have always been there generously accepting the challenges of helping the needy and less fortunate.

Yank, we've been friends a long time now and I just wanted to take yet another opportunity to say Thank-you. I want you to know that you've made a tremendous impact on the lives of millions of Liberian Refugees, as well as millions of people around the world including mine.

Your Friend,

Dr. Walter Young
